

Meet The Author

Woody Tasch

Inquiries into the Nature of slow money

“We have to find a new form of economy, an economy that knows how to govern its limits, an economy that respects nature and acts at the service of man, a situation where political and humanistic choices govern the economy and not the other way around. We have to discover new economic relationships that move at a more natural pace.”

—From the Foreword by Carlo Petrini

Sunday, July 26th at 7:30 p.m.

Morphy Hall, UW-Madison, 455 N. Park St., Madison WI 53706

“Indispensable reading, to be placed on the same shelf as Wendell Berry and E.F. Schumacher.”

—Gregory Whitehead, Treasurer, The Whitehead Foundation

Inquiries into the Nature of Slow Money investigates an essential new strategy for investing in local food systems, and introduces a group of fiduciary activists who are exploring what comes after industrial finance and industrial agriculture.

- * Could there ever be an alternative stock exchange dedicated to slow, small, and local?
- * Could a million American families get their food from CSAs?
- * What if you had to invest 50 percent of your assets within 50 miles of where you live?

Such questions—at the heart of Slow Money—are the first step on our path to a new economy and a new culture. Inquiries into the Nature of Slow Money is a call to action, a call to design new capital markets built not around extraction and consumption, but around preservation and restoration.

from Chelsea Green Publishing

