Reflective Practice
Tuesday, November 7

This common practice encourages child care professionals to discover what's working and what's not working. You'll learn step-by-step instructions to help yourself and your co-workers improve the quality of your teaching. Take charge of your own learning and discover the excitement of reflective practices!

Transition Magician
Tuesday, March 27

Are transitions a concern in your classroom? We'll share a few pointers to help you think through transitions and routines. Then we'll make a few items like "magic pick up lotion", "color cards" and "ABC's in a bag" to keep little hands and minds active without stressing your day, and you will make

Early Brain Development
Tuesday, April 24

Let's review early brain development and concentrate on practical applications to help children develop to their greatest potential. Bring along some successful ideas you've used with children and how you've helped parents understand the correlation between brain development and learning, especially early learning.

"An EEO/Affirmative Action employer, University of Wisconsin-Extension provides equal opportunities in employment and programming, including Title IX and ADA requirements. Please make requests for reasonable accommodations to ensure equal access to educational programs as early as possible preceding the scheduled program, service or activity."
