Join us at John and Jane Fisher-Merritt's organic vegetable farm on September 20th in Wrenshall, MN. You will learn about their energy efficient root cellar, fall organic vegetable production and their season extending greenhouses. John and Jane love to share their knowledge with others and enjoy having a strong connection to the land and consumers. This field day is for all farmers interested in organic and sustainable vegetable practices.

Since 1988, John, Jane, their three children and David Hanlon, have grown organic vegetables on their farm just south of Duluth, MN. Using organic methods and building a sustainable business are the hallmarks of this diversified farm. To meet the challenges of growing crops in their short northern growing season, John and Jane have developed improved season extension and storage techniques. These techniques help supply fresh vegetables to their CSA and the Duluth Food Coop.

MOSES is holding a number of organic farming field days this summer in Wisconsin and Minnesota. Field day topics will include: small grain and forage production; organic dairy production; organic vegetable production and extending your growing season. Field days are held at certified organic farms where experienced organic farmers will showcase their farming operations and offer tours of their fields. RSVP for directions and to help us plan for the number of attendees (walk-ins are welcome).
