

2009 Early Learning Series

Gender Issues: Young Children's Curiosity

This seminar will be simultaneously interpreted in Spanish, by request without charge.
If interpretation is needed, please notify and register by April 15.

Children often ask parents and caregivers specific questions about sexuality, such as, "Where do babies come from?" or "How does the baby get out of the mommy's tummy?" How these questions are answered may determine whether or not children continue to seek information and advice throughout childhood and adolescence. This seminar is devoted to sharing information and resources helpful to parents and caregivers for addressing young children's curiosity about gender issues.
