In addition, did you know that last year over 5,000 companies used WELCOA health information? Many of these companies used The Well Workplace Healthletter, one of WELCOA's proven methods for distributing health information. Just recently, we sent you a package of information about the Healthletter and you should be receiving it shortly.

In brief, we are offering the Healthletter at an all-time low price—19 cents per issue! We want to help you maximize your wellness budget and increase the number of employees who receive critical health information—especially during these economically challenging times.
