Strategic Planning Meeting
Agenda
April 15, 2008

Location:

Mosinee, WI 54455

Debrief of 4-14-08

Overall went well, however group developed more mission statement like material than vision statements. There was general agreement about the values. We discussed how to get them more into developing vision statements.

Some discussion of what the final product would look like. Vision Design team members wanted to know what the final product would be so shared the rest of the plan regarding strategy development for the issues, etc.

Will compile material and send out to Vision Design team with specific questions (worksheet) to help them move more toward vision statements. Ask for volunteers to do this before the next meeting.

For next meeting will want to have Vision Design team develop vision statements for each of the strategic issues. Divide team into 5 groups and give each group 2 strategic issues. Send email with call for volunteers for 10 issues – preferences. Send edits or thoughts about the white paper of issue statements.

Thinking ahead to assure that the Vision Design team keeps this fresh in their mind over the summer. May consider wisline web between May and Oct.

4-15-08

General discussion—

Started to review questions that would help address the vision design which led to discussion of who has the power to make changes in the organization and whether this is a strategic issue. Some groups of employees feel less power in making those changes than others.

Crutches—big boat—too big to change and administration won't buy it. Members of the vision design team are a different group with employees who normally don't have exposure to this type of strategy. They came in cold to the process, but they were engaged.

Next time (May meeting), brighten up room, use toys, do café process, etc. Need some coaching, facilitate more visionary thinking, etc.

Do you know the mission? Do you know the purpose of the organization? Basic philosophy? core values?

Consider Role play at the beginning with retirement example. Get a boat—what kind? Draw picture of your retirement.

At the end of the day want draft statements for each of the 9 or 10 issues. Consider drafting the 9 vision statements and then cluster and develop of 4 groupings.

After the strategy team will be developed and SPSC will develop a plan and perhaps an implementation team and evaluation. Final step is to combine all and perhaps develop scenarios.

We need to moving on the strategies by end of May. We need to work hard to get Vision Design team through the 9 vision statements next time using early assignments, role playing , etc. The SPSC will need to develop the overall vision statement.

Oct. meeting will include scenario planning and finalize mission, vision and values.

Use term “in the future” rather than state 5, 10 or 20 years.

Need to send out draft vision statement as compiled in April to get reactions, revise and bring back in May for reactions, then later have others in the organization react.

At May meeting might want to have volunteers or suggestions for the strategy work group recruitment. Some think 4 groupings will not be done well. We need all nine strategic issues. May need to prioritize or do 5 one day and 4 another day. Maybe use the pyramid and do the 4 or 5 foundational issues first.

When we have all draft value statements, vision(issue) statements, etc. the strategy workgroups will need to use what we have to develop their strategies. Along the way they will ignore it or likely rewrite it.

Is this plan to be long-term(15-20 years) or strategic (5 years)? Can this be a long term plan with short term strategies because is will be less likely that the implementation process will occur in the near future.

Again, the Vision Design team is using mission language for visionary ideas. We are providing a new experience for young colleagues and it is taking some extra work on our part. Also, discovering that some folks don't know what coop extension is.

We need to develop our vision statement of how coop extension views the Wisconsin Idea and possibly the overarching statement, but we have 10 statements we need to have the group work on in May.

Strategy team work might not be as efficient if they develop on their own as if we use a 2-3 day summit type of meeting.

Overall Plan: May 28 vision design team will develop vision statements for 10 issues and strategy work group will develop strategies that will help us reach the vision. Strategy work group will develop ideas possibly using a model (logic model, other, world café). Summit will occur in summer. SPSC will develop the full strategic plan. Need to look at driving time (budget) for 2-3 days. Need to recruit those with knowledge of each strategic issue, but also those who will challenge the status quo. Administrators need to be there to take ownership as well. The role of the facilitator will be critical as well in thinking beyond the status quo.

Finalize vision for May 28

Send out materials (Annie)—look at draft vision statements, vision questions and make suggestions for redraft to entire group by May 20, request to volunteer and rank their top 4 of the 10 strategies by May 20 to Art. Art will assign a facilitator.
