The NMC is a not-for-profit professional organization that promotes research and provides education to help dairy producers reduce mastitis and enhance milk quality. For over 40 years, the NMC has distinguished itself internationally as a leader in meeting those objectives. NMC members include a wide range of dairy professionals who share an interest in milk quality and mastitis control, including producers, veterinarians, researchers, extension specialists, suppliers and regulatory officials. The increased pressure on dairy producers to ensure milk safety and improve milk quality, as well as the need to increase production efficiency requires a team effort between dairy producers, veterinarians and other dairy professionals. Each team member plays a key role in developing and implementing successful mastitis control programs.

The following is a list of reasons why YOU should become an NMC member:

- Mastitis is the most important disease in dairy herds. Everyone involved in the dairy industry needs to keep up-to-date on the latest developments in mastitis control and quality milk production.
- NMC members receive a copy of all the papers presented at the NMC annual meeting and regional meetings, and the bimonthly newsletter Udder Topics. These publications contain the latest information on udder health, milking management and milk quality.
- NMC annual and regional meetings provide high quality programs and pre-convention workshops for educational opportunities. They also provide an excellent forum for the informal exchange of ideas among colleagues.
- Numerous educational materials (fact sheets, videos, etc.) can be obtained for training and education use.
- NMC provides an excellent opportunity for networking with other dairy professionals concerned with milk quality and mastitis control. No other professional dairy organization enjoys the wide range of expertise as is found in the NMC membership.
